

Orientation

All Corpsmembers participate in one week of orientation prior to beginning project work. Corpsmembers receive a thorough five-day orientation on RMYC policies, AmeriCorps policies, prohibited activities, risk management protocols and community building. Corpsmembers will participate in a series of trainings, including history of national service, sexual harassment in the workplace, conflict resolution, team building, effective communication, and job skills.

Orientation also includes completion of the challenge ropes course. This experience provides a full day on the ropes course with a series of low and high elements to provide Corpsmembers with an experiential learning model. A series of team building activities, group games, group stages of development, and crew code of ethics are activities covered throughout the day.
